The finishing touches customers feel

1 Welcome

Luna Chat is a complete live-chat system for travel businesses. It gives your website an AI assistant that answers visitors instantly, day and night, grounded in your own knowledge, and hands over to your team the moment a real person is needed. This guide covers running it day to day.

The three parts you'll use

- The chat bubble is what visitors see on your website. How it looks and behaves is set on the Widget Setup page (see the separate Setup Guide).
- Luna, the AI, answers visitors from your approved knowledge. She never invents prices, availability, dates or ATOL/ABTA detail; if she isn't sure she offers to confirm, or hands over. You keep her sharp in Luna Brain.
- The Agent Dashboard is where your team watches live chats, takes over and replies, with Luna Copilot helping them write better replies faster.

LUNA IN ACTION

Luna answers a family holiday enquiry on the right; your team sees the same conversation live in the dashboard on the left.

What Luna does for visitors and agents

- Answers questions instantly from your knowledge, in the visitor's own language, translated both ways.
- Hands over to a human when the visitor taps Talk to a human, or when Luna decides it's needed.
- Lets visitors leave a message when no one is available, and captures a live-quote enquiry when the moment is right.
- Shares files and images in chat, both directions, and brings WhatsApp into the same inbox.
- Emails the visitor a copy of the chat, collects a star rating and shows read receipts.

💡 Think of Luna as your tireless first responder. She handles the routine 24/7, so your people spend their time only on the conversations that genuinely need a human touch.

📘 The clever bits are already done for you. The AI brain, security, photo and document sharing, WhatsApp and translation are all built in and switched on by the Travelgenix team. There's nothing technical for you to install or manage. This guide simply shows you how to use Luna.

2 The Agent Dashboard

The dashboard, titled Luna Live Chat, is where your team works each day: watching live chats, taking over when needed and replying.

DASHBOARD

Signing in

Your team opens the dashboard with their normal Travelgenix login, no extra password to remember. If someone helps more than one business, they'll be asked to pick which one. To leave, use Sign out.

Presence: Online / Away / Busy

Each agent sets their status in the top bar: Online, Away or Busy. Everyone signed in appears under Agents Online.

💡 Set yourself to Away when you step off the desk, so colleagues know who can actually pick up.

The Conversations list

The left sidebar has two tabs: Live (current chats, with a count) and History (resolved chats). Each row shows the visitor's name, a preview and a handler chip: Luna AI (the AI is handling it), Agent (a human has it) or Waiting (escalated, needs a human). WhatsApp chats carry a green WhatsApp badge.

💡 Sort your attention by the chips. Waiting means a customer is asking for a person right now, so make that your first stop.

Reading a conversation

Open a chat to see the full thread. Messages are labelled by sender: Luna for the AI, the agent's name for human replies, and the visitor's own messages. A three-dot indicator shows when the visitor is typing. Non-English messages show a small language pill and are auto-translated both ways.

Agent actions

- Take Over puts you in control; Luna steps back and stops auto-replying.
- Resolve closes the conversation and moves it to History.
- Block stops a visitor starting new conversations.

💡 Use Take Over the moment a chat needs human judgement, a complaint, a complex itinerary, a booking change. Scroll up first, Luna may already have answered most of it, so pick up where she left off.

Sending a reply and Quick Replies

Type in the box and press Send. Enter sends; Shift + Enter starts a new line. Open Quick Replies to drop in a saved answer, filed under Greetings, Support, Sales and Closing. Add your own with Category, Title, Message and an emoji.

💡 Build quick replies for your top ten repeat answers (deposit terms, opening hours, "we'll get back within the hour"). It turns a 30-second reply into a one-click one, and keeps wording consistent across the team.

The info panel and returning visitors

The right-hand panel has three tabs: Intel, Session and Details. Under Visitor Details you'll see name and email (with a green RETURNING badge for repeat visitors), current page, country, device and any rating. For repeat visitors Luna surfaces only a name, last-seen, a count and a short topic summary, never full past transcripts.

💡 A RETURNING badge is a relationship cue. A quick "welcome back" and a glance at last time's topic makes the customer feel known and speeds the booking along.

Luna Copilot

Luna Copilot is a private assistant built into the dashboard, just above the reply box. It helps agents write better replies faster. Customers never see it; its output only ever goes to the agent, who decides whether to use it.

COPILOT

Suggested replies, each tagged by source, plus the Copilot bar, which sits directly above the reply box.

Button	What it does
Suggest replies	Offers three ready-to-send options, each tagged "From your knowledge", "From the chat" or "Suggested". Click a card to insert it.
Improve	Rewrites your draft for clarity and warmth.
Friendlier	Makes the draft warmer and more personable.
Shorter	Tightens the draft.
More detail	Adds helpful, grounded detail.
Summarise	A short thread summary for handover: who the visitor is, what they want, what's unknown, the best next step.

After a rewrite you can Replace draft (with Undo) or Copy ; Ctrl/Cmd + J suggests replies. Start with Suggest replies, then tweak with Friendlier or Shorter to match your style, and use Summarise to write a colleague's handover note.

⚠ Always check before you send. Like Luna, Copilot is grounded only in your approved knowledge and the live chat. It never invents prices, availability, dates or ATOL/ABTA detail; instead it leaves a clear bracketed gap such as [check price] or [confirm dates] for you to fill in with the real figure.

4 Luna Brain

Luna Brain is where you keep Luna's knowledge accurate: the things your AI couldn't quite handle, fix them in one click. The summary cards at the top cover the last 7 days.

LUNA BRAIN

Summary cards, then your working sections: Knowledge gaps, Suggested by Luna and Review due.

- Knowledge gaps. Questions visitors asked that Luna couldn't answer confidently. Approve & add accepts her suggested answer as-is; Edit first lets you correct it then save; Dismiss removes it.
- Suggested by Luna. Things-to-do she drafted from your own sources. Approve what's accurate, dismiss what doesn't fit.
- Low-quality conversations. Where Luna's answer scored 1 or 2 out of 5, with the reason and an expandable transcript.
- Review due. Answers that have gone a while without a check. Mark verified resets the clock.
- Top knowledge items. The answers Luna uses most. Edit any inline; set Status to Active, Draft or Archived.

💡 Gaps are gold, the real questions your customers asked. Clear them weekly and Luna gets noticeably smarter. Where a price or policy is involved, use Edit first and put in the exact wording, and do a Review due pass monthly (Mark verified never changes an answer, it just re-checks it) so seasonal prices stay current.

⚠️ You are the final word on what's accurate. Luna never guesses on figures. If a detail can change (price, availability), keep it current or word it so it stays true.

5 Sharing files and images

Both your visitors and your agents can share images and documents right inside a chat. Pictures show as small previews (click to enlarge); other files show as a simple download button.

To attach as an agent, use the Attach button on the compose toolbar, choose your file, then send. Supported types: JPEG, PNG, GIF, WebP, PDF, DOC/DOCX, XLS/XLSX, CSV and TXT, up to 4 MB (large photos are shrunk automatically).

💡 File sharing is for the human part of a conversation. Luna doesn't read the contents of uploaded files, so when a customer sends a booking confirmation or passport photo, that's the moment to Take Over and handle it personally.

📘 The one-time storage set-up is done by the Travelgenix team. Once it's on, attaching works straight away for both your agents and your visitors. On WhatsApp, an attached file is sent to the customer as a link.

6 WhatsApp in the same inbox

If your business connects a WhatsApp number, those conversations appear in the same dashboard as your web chats, no separate app. A customer messages your number, the chat appears live with a green WhatsApp badge, Luna answers as usual, and your agents reply from the dashboard. Replies are delivered back over WhatsApp automatically.

The screenshot shows the 'Luna Live Chat' dashboard. At the top, it says 'DASHBOARD Luna Live Chat'. On the right, there's a status bar with 'Connecting...', 'Enable alerts', 'English', '0 agents', and 'AS Anna Sharma Online'. The main area is divided into three columns. The left column, 'CONVERSATIONS', lists three chats: 'Sarah M.' (Tenerife sounds great, what's included?), 'James W.' (Can I change my flight dates?), and 'Priya K.' (Looking for an all-inclusive in Crete...). The middle column shows the active chat with 'Sarah M.', including messages from her and Luna, and a response from Anna. The right column contains 'AGENT'S ONLINE' (Anna Sharma, Tom Reilly), 'VISITOR DETAILS' (Name, Location, Current page, Device, Returning), and 'QUICK REPLIES' (Warm greeting, Hold a quote). At the bottom, there's a 'Type your reply...' field and a 'Send' button.

OMNICHANNEL

A WhatsApp chat (see "James W." in the list) sits right alongside your web chats.

Work a WhatsApp chat exactly like a web chat: read the thread, Take Over, reply, then Resolve. Escalation works too, a WhatsApp chat that needs a person flips to Waiting and Luna stops.

⚠ The 24-hour rule. WhatsApp only lets you reply freely within 24 hours of the customer's last message. If a customer goes quiet for more than a day you may not be able to send a free-form follow-up, so reply promptly while the conversation is live.

i Connecting and provisioning the WhatsApp number is handled by the Travelgenix team. Your agents never touch the setup.

7 Booking Assist & enquiries

When a visitor's trip takes shape, Luna can turn the conversation into a warm enquiry for your team, without ever pretending to be a booking engine. Once she knows the destination, the dates and the party, she can offer to put an enquiry in for a live quote. If the visitor says yes, she shows a short enquiry card to capture their details.

BOOKING ASSIST

Luna offers to raise an enquiry once the trip is specific, then captures the visitor's details in the chat. (Shown from the flow; your live card may look slightly different.)

What your team gets

- An alert on the dashboard and a note in the thread the moment an enquiry comes in.
- The enquiry saved to your Enquiries list, ready to move through New, Contacted, Quoted, Booked or Lost.
- A notification email, so nothing slips while your team is away from the desk.

⚠ Luna offers once, and only when she has enough to go on. She never invents a price, a room or an availability. The enquiry is a hand-off to a human to quote properly, not an automated booking.

💡 Treat an enquiry as a hot lead. The visitor has told you where, when and roughly how much, so a quick, personal reply with a real quote lands while they're still keen.

Ratings, receipts & translation

Ratings (CSAT)

Visitors can rate a conversation 1 to 5 stars. A note appears in the thread, the score shows under Rating in Visitor Details, and your overall average appears as CSAT in the dashboard stats.

💡 Watch the CSAT trend rather than any single score. A dip usually follows a knowledge gap, fix it in Luna Brain and the scores recover.

Read receipts

Agent messages show their state: ✓ Sent, ✓✓ Delivered and ✓✓ Read (in blue) once the visitor has seen them.

💡 A blue Read with no reply means they've seen your message and are thinking. Give them a moment before nudging.

Email transcript

Visitors can be emailed a tidy copy of their chat, sent in your business's name. If they hit reply, it goes straight to your contact email.

💡 Encourage a transcript when a chat includes quotes, dates or terms. It gives the customer a written record and a one-tap way to reply to you.

Translation

Luna auto-translates both ways: incoming messages into your agents' language, and replies into the visitor's language on send. The Language field shows "auto-translating" when it isn't English.

💡 Your agents can serve international customers confidently in their own language. Just reply in English and Luna handles the rest.

That's Luna.
